

Before attempting to use this directory, please read this page.
This is NOT a directory of people who represent Servants' News.
It will only be helpful if used as intended.

There are two scriptures that you need to know before using this directory:

We who are strong ought to bear with the failings of the weak and not to please ourselves. Each of us should please his neighbor for his good, to build him up (Rom 15:1-2).

In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's word all over again. You need milk, not solid food! (Heb 5:12).

It would be wonderful if you could contact anyone in this directory and know that they would be like the first verse, above—a strong believer who would help you in areas where you are weak. But that kind of trust is something that belongs in God, not in men. You may find that some of the people in this directory fit the second verse better, they have been believers a long time, but they cannot give help—they need help!

The Bible encourages us to seek spiritual help and counsel from others, but whenever we do, we must realize it is just counsel. It is vitally important to pray and ask God to lead us. Multiple counselors are better than one (Prov 11:14). Whether you are talking to a long-time pastor, a close Christian friend, or somebody you just found through this directory, it is important to realize that you, not your counselors, are responsible to God for what you do.

People are in this directory because they have volunteered to be here—to talk to others about God and to help them in any way they can. I think most of them sincerely desire to do that, but there are some who see it as a way to reach others with their own ideas. You will have to pray for wisdom and discernment to see who is helpful and who is not.

Pay attention to whether the people you contact are trying to help you in the way that you ask. If they are helpful to begin with, do they remain that way? Are they only being nice in an effort to eventually steer you toward their own beliefs, literature, ideas, etc? When you ask them about all the various services and fellowship groups in their area, do they tell you about all they know of, or just about the ones that they attend?

If a man tells you that he has a God-given spiritual gift, you are not “doubting God” by doubting him. You are “proving all things”, which is good. Is the gift plainly observable? Do others recognize his gift? If there are no other believers that seem to accept that gift (or very few other believers who know the man), then you should take months to get to know the man and see his spiritual gift bear fruit before accepting it.

When this directory was begun, I specifically asked that people not use it as a source to “recruit new members”. I still ask everyone not to use it as a mailing list for literature or to contact people to try to get them to join their group. Anyone on this lists who receives such solicitations ought to realize that they are being “marketed to” and treat it accordingly. In the Bible, God's servants did not have to beg for an audience. They were sometimes punished or killed for what they said, but people willingly listened.

Why is there so much difficulty in getting believers simply to talk to each other? The book of Acts describes an early Church that was largely unified. Believers were being taught by Apostles who had been taught directly by the Messiah. Everyone knew who the real apostles were. A stranger in a city could ask where the followers of Jesus (or Yeshua) met, and expect to find meetings similar to those of believers in other cities. Later, sectarianism began to develop (1Cor 3). In the letters of Peter, John and Jude we find that there were false believers teaching error.

Today, almost 2000 years later, a stranger in a major city can find hundreds of “Christian” denominations in the phone book—teaching a great variety of doctrines, many of which are not directly from the Bible. Various Bible teachers and “prophets” claim to have the truth revealed from God—but they nearly always differ from each other. The original apostles are all dead, and they did not answer every possible question in their writings. In spite of this apparent confusion, there are individuals (in and out of religious groups) who have learned from the Bible, claimed its promises and radically changed their lives.

I think there are many sound believers like that in this list! I have not “approved” each one and cannot be responsible for their actions. (If presented with spiritual grounds, I can remove someone from future issues of the directory.) I pray that people will use this directory to find fellowship, compassion, understanding, prayer and spiritual help. If one person in the directory does not help you, please try another. Christ said that His followers would be known by their love for each other (John 13:35). May we learn to love as He did! I Pray that the Eternal will lead you to spiritually helpful people and grant you discernment to avoid those who are advancing their own agendas.
